THE HOUSE of HARRY WINSTON introduces FORGET-ME-NOT with BLUE and PINK SAPPHIRES

Beyond white diamonds and colorful gemstones, one of nature's greatest gifts is a flower in bloom.

The world's natural beauty captivated Mr. Winston, who spent his famed career reimagining and reinterpreting its splendor. Today, nature remains an enduring muse for Winston designers, who continue to translate enchanting bouquets into timeless and feminine fine jewelry collections.

From lively sunflowers to budding lilies, to delicate tulips and more, Harry Winston's legendary designs have drawn inspiration from nature's most beloved creations, since its inception.

This spring, the House brings a colorful perspective to the Forget-Me-Not Collection, with the introduction of charming blue and pink sapphire suites.

The Forget-Me-Not Collection celebrates the graceful silhouette of its namesake bloom, through a line of delicate daytime jewels – necklace, pendant, earrings, bracelet, ring and a complementing charm – and features an enchanting medley of round brilliant, pear-shaped and marquise-cut stones that together reveal the beautiful flower. Each of the seven designs in this floral collection adds an unparalleled warmth and radiance to any occasion.

Forget-Me-Not with Blue and Pink Sapphires will be available at Harry Winston salons worldwide beginning April 2018.
